

ABSTRACT

A wrapper for wrapping a flower pot and/or floral grouping or other item. The wrapper is constructed of a sheet of material having a central decorative portion and a peripheral decoration. When the wrapper is formed about a flower pot to form a plant package including a decorative cover, the variation in the decoration of the wrapper provides the cover with a "two-sheet" effect which provides the cover with the appearance of being constructed of at least two separate sheets. The wrapper may also comprise a decorative extension or detachable portion.